Re-development of the old ashram building - Kindness of local building material suppliers -

On 25th May 2019, inmates of Narmadalaya had a terrific experience of a storm. G.I. sheets of the roof on the old ashram structure were blown off by this storm. They were reset immediately. The structure included office room, Bharati didi's room, prayer room, drawing room, dormitory of 60 hostel wards, a small pantry etc. During the rainy season, the hostel inmates and the staff experienced heavy leakage of rain water through the old and damaged GI sheet roof. On non rainy days poisonous snakes like Cobra, Russell'a viper, common krait etc were regular visitors through the gaps of the roof sheets. Walls of this structure had many huge cracks. It was really a great threat to the lives of hostel wards and property. As per the suggestions of civil engineers, the whole structure was demolished. It was rebuilt within 6 months without any CSR Support. The local building material suppliers were kind enough to provide the construction material of this building on long term credit. Till now we are paying the material cost whenever funds are available.

Many many thanks to our donors and well wishers. With their support only we could complete the difficult task of redeveloping the entire old building structure consisting 6600 Sq ft area.

Hydroponics

Nimar Abhyudaya Rural Management And Development Association (NARMADA) has always strived to adopt new techniques and technologies for the progress of farmers of the region. With the same spirit its coordinator Digvijay Singh Chouhan led a three member team for a training in organic farming at Bodke wadi, Maan Village on the western outskirts of Pune, Maharashtra. The other members were Shankar kewat and Sanjeev Namdev During the three days of the extensive training, they learned some very important practises and techniques for the organic farming. The camp organised by Mr Dnyaneshwar Bhodke, the founder chairman of the Abhinav Farmers' Club, has led special emphasis on utility of Gir cow for farming and need for adopting hydroponics to provide quality feed for the cattle. Armed with the knowledge, our team took upon itself the task of improving the Goshala (cowshed) at our Ashram at Lepa Purvas. They began adopting the principles of cattle management techniques. Under Digvijay Singh's supervision, Shankar Kevat and all students of Ramkrishna Technical Institute have fabricated the hydroponics structure of the size 10*15*8 to keep 60 trays using one inch square iron pipes & green net. It was immediately put to use to grow green feed for the cows. After some initial menace of rats and rodents, our Goshala team has succeeded in growing maize & wheat grass per for Ashram's cows and calves.
